

deliver over to such new administrator, or to the remaining executor or administrator, as the case may be, all the property of the deceased remaining in his hands unadministered, and also all the books, bonds, notes and evidences of debt or funds, and all title to property or stocks which belong to or are due, or which may become due to the decedent, in his possession, and also pay over to such new administrator or remaining executor or administrator of the decedent all the money due to him as executor or administrator of the decedent, the court may compel the delivery and payment over as aforesaid by attachment and sequestration of the property of the party whose letters may be revoked, and may also direct to be put in suit the administration or testamentary bond of such executor or administrator whose letters have been revoked.

This section construed in connection with section 348. Where the administrator c. t. a. is directed to sue the bond, he can recover all property and money which the former administrator has in his hands, and also all which he has wasted or converted. Stockbridge v. Smith, 64 Md. 106.

Where letters are revoked and there are no relations in the state entitled to notice under section 32, new letters may be granted on the same day. As to relations not entitled to notice and creditors, the matter of the time within which the new appointment is made is within the discretion of the court. McGuire v. Rogers, 71 Md. 589.

A declaration in a suit on a bond under this section must allege that the court ordered the bond to be put in suit. Dittman v. Robinson, 57 Md. 497.
